Purpose of the processing and the legal basis for the processing

Your information is being used by the CA to inform the development of our Economies for Healthier Lives programme, which we are able to do with your consent.

Description of the categories of personal data & sensitive data

The categories of information being processed include responses to survey questions around perception and use of health and/or employment services, and demographic information including age, gender, local authority information, disability information, and employment status. This information is being collected to monitor the representativeness of responses and to aid analysis and understanding of the responses.

At the end of the survey, you will be offered to opportunity to sign up to the CA's Customer Relationship Management (CRM) system. Any contact would be to provide you with information about and other opportunities to get involved in the work of CA. If you agree to sign up to the CRM along with the contact details provided, we will also add any demographic data shared already in the survey, such as disability status, age and gender, working status, and local authority area.

Any recipient or categories of recipients of the personal data

Your information will be shared with Snap Surveys for the purposes of conducting the survey.

Your information will also be shared with trusted partners, who the CA is collaborating with to develop and deliver this programme, for analysis and reporting purposes.

Details of transfers to third country and safeguards

Your personal data will not be transferred outside the European Economic Area (all EU Member States, plus Iceland, Norway and Liechtenstein).

Retention period or criteria used to determine the retention period

Your data will be kept for a period of 12 months from the date of collection, unless you give us your permission to add your details to our contact database (CRM system), in which case your data will be kept until you ask for it to be removed. This retention has been determined by the CA's business need.

The existence of each of data subject's rights

The GDPR provides you with the following rights when it comes to your personal data:

- The right to be informed how your personal data is being processed
- The right of access to the personal data we hold about you, which includes providing copies of the information to you within one month of a request. We may charge a reasonable fee to provide this information based on our administrative costs of responding (i.e. photocopying, postage, etc.).
- The right to rectification of any incorrect or incomplete data we hold about you
- The right to erasure, also known as 'the right to be forgotten', where
 - Your information is no longer required for the purpose it was collected
 - You withdraw your consent
 - You object to the CA processing your information (and there is no overriding legitimate interest for continuing the processing)
 - The CA has breached the GDPR when processing your data
 - There is a legal obligation to delete the data (such as a court order)
- The right to restrict processing, which limits what the CA can do with your information
- The right to data portability, where any automated processing of your information based on your consent or as part of a contract is made available for your reuse
- The right to object to direct marketing or any processing based on the performance of a task in the public interest/exercise of official authority or for the purposes of scientific/historical research and statistics.
- Rights in relation to automated decision making and profiling, where a decision made by a computer has a legal or significant effect on you.

The right to withdraw consent at any time

As our legal basis for processing your personal data is your consent, you have the right to withdraw this at any time.
